Report on the audit of the annual accounts

Unqualified opinion

We have audited the annual accounts of the Company, which comprise the balance sheet as at 31 December 2017, the profit and loss account for the year then ended and notes to the annual accounts, characterised by a balance sheet total of Eur 8.227.937 and a profit and loss account showing a loss for the year of Eur 13.080.748.

In our opinion, the annual accounts give a true and fair view of the Company's net equity and financial position as at 31 December 2017, as well as of its results for the year then ended, in accordance with the financial reporting framework applicable in Belgium.

Basis for unqualified opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the 'Statutory auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the annual accounts' section in this report. We have complied with all the ethical requirements that are relevant to the audit of annual accounts in Belgium, including those concerning independence.

We have obtained from the board of directors and company officials the explanations and information necessary for performing our audit.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the annual accounts of the current year. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the annual accounts as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Going concern adopted for the preparation of the annual accounts

Reference to the annual accounts: appendix C 6.20

Description of the key audit matter

The company is a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company focused on the development and future commercialization of a range of immunotherapy products for the treatment of allergies. To date, the company does not yet have a product marketed or approved for market.

The Company has incurred significant operating losses since its inception in 1997. These losses are primarily the result of research and development expenses, preclinical testing, clinical development of research programs and candidate products, as well as general and administrative costs related to the activities of the company.

In this context, the board of directors must regularly assess:

- if the conditions of going concern are met;
- whether additional fundraising to fund the entire development plan should be organized;
- if necessary, arrangements should be made to suspend all or part of its research programs in order to match financial resources with planned expenditures.

The assessment of the going concern assumption therefore requires a significant amount of judgment from the board of directors in a context in which there may be several uncertainties relating to the Company's business development plan.

As a result, we consider the going concern as a key audit matter.

How we addressed the key audit matter during the audit

We have assessed the board's most recent evaluation of the Company's ability to continue operating over a twelve-month period from the end of the year, as well as the elements upon which this evaluation is based and the documentation that underlies them. To do this:

- we examined the reasonableness, as a whole, of the assumptions underlying the development plan, in its latest available update based on data at the end of December 2017 and capital increases carried out at the end of March 2018;
- we have assessed the elements on which the projections of future expenditures are based through the underlying documentation and on the basis of interviews with management;
- lastly, we examined the compliance with the legal and regulatory requirements of the information provided on going concern in the accompanying notes.

Research and development expenses

Reference to annual accounts: Appendix C 6.2.2 Research expenses

Appendix C 6.19 Valuation rules

Description of the key audit matter

The company has incurred research and development expenses relating to allergy treatment projects (grass pollen, mites, ragweed, etc.).

Development costs are capitalized as intangible assets if technical, commercial and financial feasibility criteria are met.

At the end of the financial year and in accordance with the accounting framework applicable in Belgium, the Company is of the opinion that none of the projects in progress meets the capitalization criteria since Phase III has not been completed.

We have focused on this item because research and development represents a significant amount and the determination of the appropriate accounting treatment requires some judgment.

How we addressed the key audit matter during the audit

Our procedures for verifying research and development expenses include:

- gain an understanding of current projects and associated expenses incurred to date;
- test a sample of the expenses incurred during the period to verify the nature and amount of the expense and ensure that the classification as research expense was appropriate;
- meet with management to understand the current stage of development until December 31, 2017 as well as test results after the closing date;
- based on this work, we appreciated the management's assessment of whether the development costs met the capitalization criteria or not.

Responsibilities of the board of directors for the annual accounts

The board of directors is responsible for the preparation of annual accounts that give a true and fair view in accordance with the financial reporting framework applicable in Belgium, and for such internal control as the board of directors determines is necessary to enable the preparation of annual accounts that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the annual accounts, the board of directors is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the board of directors either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Statutory auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the annual accounts

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the annual accounts as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue a statutory auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these annual accounts.

Company number: BE 0460.798.795

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the annual accounts, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control;
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control;
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the board of directors;
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the board of directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our statutory auditor's report to the related disclosures in the annual accounts or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our statutory auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern;
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the annual accounts and whether the annual accounts represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the Audit Committee regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit as well as significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we have identified during our audit.

We also provide the Audit Committee with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence and, where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with the Audit Committee, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the annual accounts of the current year, and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our statutory auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter.

- The appropriation of results proposed to the general meeting complies with the legal provisions and the Company's by-laws.
- There are no transactions undertaken or decisions taken in breach of the by-laws or of the Company Code that we have to report to you.
